

Home Is Where the Heart Is

They say home is where the heart is
and I do believe it's true.
Where the people that I love live,
I would like to live there too.

When I think of far-off places,
they don't mean a thing to me.
I need the love and smiley faces,
of my friends and family.

Now I do believe that dreams can all come true.
My home is where my heart is
and my heart's with all of you.

Home is where my heart is,
I won't stray too far away.
I have a home I am a part of
and I am grateful for each day.

Life is sweet and love is tender,
greater peace I've never known
and I always will remember,
there is no place like home.
